G. D. WHITMAN FOR PRESIDENT

New London Man Elected to Head County Improvement League—Organization Completed—Officers Probably to Be in Transportation Co. Building on Shetucket St.

The organization of the New London County Improvement league was completed here on Saturday afternoon at a meeting at the town hall, at which the complete list of directors from the towns was made up and the officers of the league were elected. The attendance at the meeting was fifty.

The officers elected were the following: President, C. D. Whitman, New London; first vice-president, D. Vaughn, Norwich; second vice-president, John D. Avery, North Stonington; treasurer, C. J. Smith, Norwich; secretary, E. J. Jewett, Norwich.

The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock by R. P. Williams of Stonington, who was chairman of the meeting last week ago.

Directors Named.
After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Secretary E. C. Jewett, which were accepted, the next business was the choice for directors from towns not represented at the last meeting. These were filled out as follows by nomination and then elected.

Colchester—Representatives in D. East Lyme—Rev. C. F. Eldredge. Ledyard—Billings T. Avery.

On motion of W. I. Allen of Ledyard the choice of officers was left to the directors.

Chairman Williams announced that Prof. C. D. Jarvis of Storrs Agricultural college, and in charge of the farm bureau work for the state, had been expected to attend the meeting and speak, but he had sent word that he was unable to do so.

However, the address made at the previous meeting by Mr. Williams was read, and the information of persons who had not been at the previous meeting, was given by Secretary Jewett.

Expansive Development Committee.
While the directors were engaged in an attempt to nominate directors for Griswold, Old Lyme and Salem, the expansive development committee, which was organized at the last meeting, was also active.

The committee, which was organized at the last meeting, was also active in the selection of a site for a new road which would connect the town of Griswold with the town of Old Lyme.

FIRST DIVISION, A. O. H., HAD SPECIAL PROGRAMME.

Given in Connection With St. Patrick's Day—Speeches and Songs.

Division No. 1, A. O. H., followed its regular business meeting on Sunday evening in Foresters' hall with a special programme. The meeting was in connection with St. Patrick's day. President Edward A. Pratt presided.

Very large, nearly every man in the hall was present. The programme was made up of songs, recitations and speeches. The Irish people were prepared to receive this offering when it came.

From St. Patrick's time onward for three centuries was the golden age of Ireland. She gave to the world the highest learning, the highest culture, the world then possessed. We are told that the 16 universities in Ireland had about 25,000 students. We are also told that in the fifth and sixth centuries there were nearly 2,000,000 people in Ireland.

The records of Germany tell us that 150 Irishmen became saints there. In the history of Ireland, which the Irish people left their homes and became martyrs in the cause of their religion. Such a great number of Irishmen who were the golden age. Thirteen schools and universities, we are told, were established by the Irish in Scotland, 12 in England, 44 in France, 15 in Switzerland, and 6 in Italy. This shows in a measure the great generosity of Ireland.

Among the many invasions that followed this period was the invasion of Ireland by the English. Other countries were conquered, but for 500 years Ireland withstood the Danes, who gradually became more and more Irish in their ideas and their living. Three hundred years of bloody war could not rob the Irish of the faith St. Patrick gave them.

Here the speaker gave an interesting historical sketch of the rebellion in Ireland, during which many brave Irishmen gave up their lives in defense of their religion. The speakers tried in vain to take from the Irish their faith. For years the Irish were greatly oppressed and suffered many injustices but they would not give up their faith.

Continuing Father McNicholas said: Ireland kept her faith because of her purity and because of the many sacrifices made in its defense. Men gave their lives for their faith. Men gave their property for their faith. Men gave their lives for their faith. Men gave their property for their faith. Men gave their lives for their faith. Men gave their property for their faith.

Will play at St. Patrick's celebration. The band has been engaged by the Neptune House company of Stonington to play at the celebration in Stonington on Aug. 8th.

LAID FOUNDATION FOR GOLDEN AGE OF IRELAND.

Life and Work of St. Patrick Pictured by Rev. J. T. McNicholas.

The near approach of St. Patrick's day suggested the subject which was the topic for the sermon of Rev. J. T. McNicholas, O. P. of New York at the Lenten service in St. Patrick's church Sunday. As usual, the attendance was very large, nearly every man in the church being filled, and much interest was manifested in the sermon.

Speaking upon the life of St. Patrick, Father McNicholas said in part: We find that the preaching of St. Patrick which brought peace to Ireland was an offering. It demanded in a religious way that loyalty the Irish had given to their clans and their ruler. The Irish people were prepared to receive this offering when it came.

From St. Patrick's time onward for three centuries was the golden age of Ireland. She gave to the world the highest learning, the highest culture, the world then possessed. We are told that the 16 universities in Ireland had about 25,000 students. We are also told that in the fifth and sixth centuries there were nearly 2,000,000 people in Ireland.
